NEST

A participatory sculpture by Rich White

TESTBED 1, Battersea, London.

7-14 October 2011

Open 10:00am-6:00pm daily

PRIVATE VIEW: Friday 14 October @ 7pm

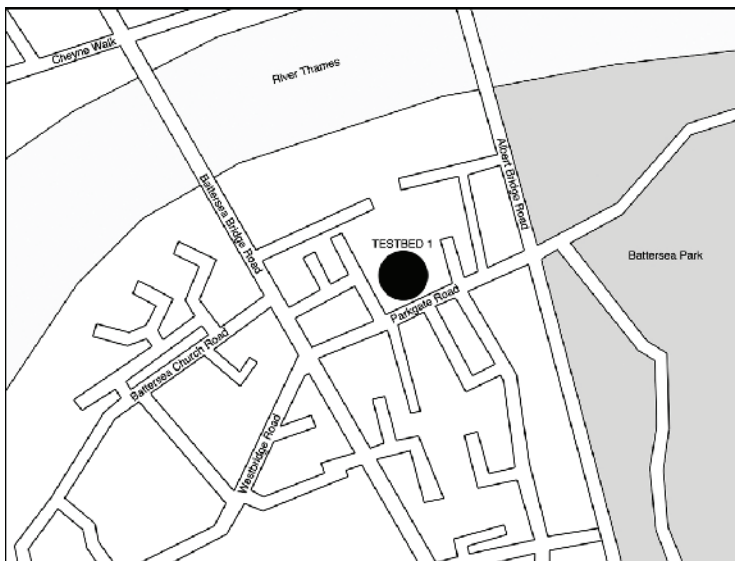

Over the course of eight days White will be building a human-sized spherical nest suspended from the pillars of Testbed 1, a converted Victorian dairy warehouse. The nest will be made from found objects bound together with a continuous line of rope.

You are invited to visit the site, bringing an item (or items) to be included in the sculpture - bits of wood, old furniture, discarded house-hold objects, material, anything at all. Come and join in and help with the creation of a site-specific installation.
